Strength, Unity and Student Involvement

Fall Student Body President Barry Boersma, assisted by Vice President Kelly Alterman, Financial Secretary Alison Tees, Recording Secretary Shannon Stanley, Commissioner of Spirit Bunny Berney, Publicity Officer Mimi Kim, School Board Representative Nancy Jaber, and Ad-Board Speaker Mary McElhinney continued to promote unity and strong leadership for A.H.S. through active student government.

"Better representation of the students was my main goal," says Barry. "Improving the counseling department, revising the by-laws, and enacting the President's veto power are ways I carried out my campaign promises." Assembly planning also may be attributed to Barry. "It's important for me to bring knowledge as well as entertainment to the student body as a whole," he stressed.

As chairman of the policy committee, Kelly worked closely with the Board of Education on a vandalism proposal with the help of Vice-chairperson and speaker Mary McElhinney. They also aided Barry in by-law revisions, re-established Board of Control, and put many hours into obtaining new bleachers for our "Renovated" gym.

Besides running the efficiently organized Finance Committee, Alison's job was to make money. "Selling Student Body Cards is the biggest single way to meet our budget. For the first time in four years we've done just that!" But that is not all the Finance committee accomplished. Pom-pons, buttons, balloons and tee-shirts sales were all profitable. The concession stand at all the football games was also run by this money-minded committee.

"Adding a bit of excitement to Alameda's Friday nights" was Shannon's idea. The social life of the students really accelerated with dances, Homecoming activities and noon time events.

Bunny boosted school spirit sky high by organizing cheerleading try-outs, Spirit Week, and a lunch time entertainment program. "Involving students in fun and crazy activities is the only way to keep up our school spirit. That is what my committee tries to do," stated Bunny.

Mimi and the Publicity Committee kept all the events of A.H.S. well publicized by writing the Hornet Buzz. Posters of upcoming activities and the main hall display case let everyone know the latest happenings.

Speaking out on Alameda's concerns and ideas was Nancy Jaber. Attending School Board meetings to voice our school's needs helped to bring better student understanding to the Board members.

The executive board brought unity, school spirit and student involvement to Alameda during the fall semester.

Boersma Leads On!

Re-elected to the seat of Student Body President, Barry Boersma headed the executive board for the Spring semester. Following in his footsteps was the re-elected Financial Secretary Alison Tees and the other newly elected officials: Vice President, Mimi Kim; Recording Secretary, Kelly Alterman; Commissioner of Spirit, Elise Moe, and Publicity Officer, Gordon Haugh.

"The Spring semester's a lot tougher than the Fall. We have very few ready made activities and fundraisers to fall into, so consequently money becomes a very large problem, and heavy responsibilities are placed upon the shoulders of the executive council," said Student Activities Director Don Perata.

Heading the policy committee, Barry is "very concerned with the lack of facilities on the campus," He is working toward "either the student use or demolition of historic A.H.S.' A special smoking section and neighborhood public relations were part of this committee's special concerns.

Vice President Mimi Kim, head of the assembly Planning Committee, planned all the noon-time activities, and most importantly, put together assemblies every other week. Magicians, bands, student speak outs, and a talent show were just some of this busy committee's accomplishments.

Chairing the Finance Committee, Alison's main concern was making money, and lots of it! A city wide paper drive on March 1 & 2 yielded almost $700.00, and was a great financial success. Concessions at all dances, basketball games, gate entrance fee's, a skate night, and mug sales were all a part of this committee's accomplishments.

Kelly and her committee were in charge of all Social Activities like dances, pizza night, and ice skating. "It was a big change in my life to switch from V.P. to Recording Secretary. It turned my hair blonde and I've always wanted blonde hair."

The annual Powder Puff game and the Blood Bank Drive both took tremendous cooperation to pull off. Thanks to Elise and her Campus Affairs Committee, it was successful.

Working to publicize all these events promoted by each committee was Publicity Officer Gordon Haugh. It was in all ways a well organized year.

Leadership Shows The Way

Spirit week, Homecoming, dances, fund raisers, assemblies... the list goes on and on. Leadership puts all these activities and more together. "Working to unite the student body as a whole is our main goal," says Student Body Financial Secretary Alison Tees. "School spirit and student involvement is really important to us. It's not just a big clique like everyone seems to think." Committees such as social activities, finance, campus affair policies, and assemblies meet every day.

Ad-Board meetings are held every Wednesday morning where reports are given and issues are debated. Advised by Mr. Perata, leadership leads us through our many social activities. The class is composed of the executive board, (Student body officers), class presidents, ad-board members and six non-elected officials.

Following the Trends

Busy working on dances and assemblies was the spring ad-board class of Alameda High School. The forty-seven member class was headed by Speaker Billy Trento, aided by Vice-Speaker Carol Nohra, and Sergeant at Arms Jerry Ogden.

In addition to ad-board, four seniors were selected for a committee with the sole purpose of planning senior activities. Another new activity was a schoolwide paper drive taking place in March.

Other goals of this spirited class are to get a traffic light at the busy intersection of Encinal and Walnut, to regain the use of the historic auditorium, and to earn additional money on the newly established vandalism project.

Crazy costumes could be seen during the entire week prior to the "BIG" football game between the fabulous Hornets and the Encinal Jets. Added to the usual Spirit Week activities such as hallway decorations and class skits were "Backwards Day" and "Fifties Day." Anne Frey, Ann Alberts, and Cindi Rosenlof were winners of the best-dressed awards on "Fifties Day." On "Backwards Day," Elise Moe and Velda Wardley received the honors.

Competition between the classes was tight, with the Freshmen "Of the Future" capturing first place. Coming in second were the Seniors "Go Western", followed by the Juniors "Rock and Roll", and Sophomore "Syndicate."

Lunchtime activities included competition between the homecoming contestants and games involving various members of the Student Body. The week's activities were culminated by the assembly featuring skits performed by each of the classes.

Balloons, pompons, and spirits were flying high all week long. The change in activities from recent years was met by an enthusiastic response. Said Bunny Berny, organizer of Spirit Week, "I just wanted to do something new and different this year, because it's always the same."

Playing with Prid

Spirits soared at the football games this year as the Alameda High Marching Band provided pulsating beats of music for the cheerleaders and crowds to "get rowdy." The 47 piece band under the leadership of Larry Huntington worked hard toward creating newer and more interesting routines for half-time entertainment. A fundraiser was also held by the band members with the purpose of purchasing new tops for their uniforms. And, as in the past, the band also provided the background music at the student body meetings.

After football season the musicians prepared themselves for the annual Winter and Spring Concerts. Guided by Mr. Dominick Vinciguerra, they worked their way through their repertoire for their formal performances. People who attended the concerts were treated to pleasant evenings of music, with the Spring Concert held out on the Circle, under the light of the setting sun.

Catching The Classics

"Feels So Good," "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is," "Bless the Beasts and the Children," and a "Tribute to Basie," were just a few of the selections out of the folder of this year's Stage Band. This small group of Alameda High's finest musicians could be found every morning trudging up the steps in the Fine Arts Building to the music room where they rehearsed their way through a wide world of contemporary jazz, rock, pop and blues tunes. As senior Mike Grace declared, "It's pretty fun because you learn how to play different music."

There were many fresh faces in the band this year—the entire saxophone section was new—but a lack of cohesiveness was no problem as everyone learned to work together while expressing their own individuality through their playing. Also, the band members became instructors for a while when they had a student teacher, Dennis Lopes. In his initial on-the-job training assignment, Dennis radiated a lot of energy and said that he "really liked teaching a lot."

Outdraw The Raiders

Nightshow was the combined talents of all the drama classes to bring the students and public live stage performances. These performances dealt not only in comedy but also in the fields of moral issues, dramatic moments, science fiction and singing. Some of the plays as in one called "Frankie" were written by students. At rehearsals the class as a whole participated in evaluating, and suggesting some ways of improvement.

The hit of the nightshow was "Highway to Hell" popular rock song sung by AC/DC. Robert Bonstin mimed the words to which he adopted his own characterization. He portrayed a boozer on his way to self-destruction with the help of the devil. A bartender tries to help Robert and is killed by the devil. The devil also uses women to influence Robert along the "Highway to Hell."

Moral issues were tackled by Bill Riley. He did Victor Buano's "Baby" which dealt with his life inside his mother's stomach. It consisted of a chronological list of events leading up to his birth, but is never born. His mother kills him. Craig Hotti did a piece called "Remember When" which dealt with the events and life before and after World War II.

An interesting twist was introduced by Ranee Rogge. She sang a burlesque number. Barny Barnhart sang a difficult number from "Jesus Christ Superstar". All music was sung without musical accompaniment.

Asked why he liked drama, one student replied, "Drama allows me to see what I can do with myself."

PLAYSKOOL

"Providing a learning experience for the high school student who may be tomorrow's parent, teacher, child care employee or just a nice neighbor interested in children." That was the theme for this year's child development class according to Mrs. Tillotson, who has really enjoyed teaching it this year. The class consists of sophomores, juniors and seniors. The students are studying about two, three, four and five year olds, plus planning, practicing and setting up a variety of activities. These activities include painting, art work, games, science story time, individual cooking, nutritional snacks and outdoor play. A visit to some nearby junior colleges and a picnic at the state beach are also some fun things the class has planned. In addition to all this fun, students are required to make a learning project they can donate to the nursery school. "I thought all kids were brats until I took child development, now I find that kids can really be fun." was a consensus comment from many class members.

Sophomore Class of "1982" Keeps A Tradition On Its Feet

Once again a "Girls ask Guys" Soph-Hop was held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the newly completed AHS gym on October 19, 1979. Students boogied to the semi-disco sound of the band named "All As One" which was hired on the spur of the moment. The original band which was set to play at the dance was "City", who broke their contract with the sophomore class at the last minute.

The decorations by Trisha Andrews and Susie O'Connell were glittered stars and moons which hung from the ceiling of the gym. They reflected the theme of the dance nicely since it was called "Moonlight Masquerade."

A marriage booth was set up where young lovers could live out their fantasies for an evening by paying fifty cents and receiving a genuine gold painted wedding band and a certificate. . . It's hard to find a better deal! Soda-pop was provided for refreshments.

Trying to get to the entrance of the dance was a new step in itself because of the many flooded and muddy areas surrounding it. Nevertheless the dance was a success and had an adequate turnout of about 400 people.

The First Touch

Emotional, spectacular, simple, elegant, triumphant all described the drama department's fall play. "David and Lisa" is a teenage love story taking place in New England. It revolves around David Clemens and his relationships to people, his psychiatrist and the patients at a sanitarium.

Mr. Johnson commented after viewing the play that, "Not only was I treated to great professional acting, but I was able to hear the fine musical talents of Terry Montana." He further stated, "Carlos had me laughing out of my seat. Lisa was very free-flowing on the stage. David acted in a very professional manner. Dr. Alan Swinford reminded me of Bob Newhart. I was pleased with the simplicity of the sets because they focused the audience's attention on the actors. I look forward to seeing all these actors on television some day.

Cast members were pleased. (Todd Aragon) "I thought the acting was first class. It was a cast that worked well together. (Sandy Vandervier) "At first I didn't like it until I began to work backstage and know the play. It was great to see everyone grow in their parts." (Kathy Sabo) "I honestly think it was a good effort. "Lots of time and energy were put into the play, but it was the wrong play to choose. The scenes were too short and the audience paid more attention to the set changes than the actors." (Barney Barnhart) "Carlos was an interesting character to play. I enjoyed getting to know the people. I would like to say that credit should be given to all those whose voices were never heard on the stage."

"David and Lisa" played on November 14, 15, 16, 1979, and it was seen by over 450 people.

Editor in Chief, Julie Thesenvitz, and her competent staff kept A.H.S. students informed with a variety of subjects. New to Oak Leaf this year are reviews of entertainment around the Bay Area including concerts and movies. Other new additions were: an updated "Question Person", a column on class notes, and a gossip column.

Mr. Perata, first year Oak Leaf advisor, is enthused with the staff's accomplishments. "Oak Leaf is trying to provide a variety of subjects for student consideration. Our goal is to call attention to the ideas and issues that concern students at this school."

Section editors included Managing Editor, Wendy Paulsen; Feature Editor, Kathy Bride; Editorial Editor, Belinda Lopes; Sports Editor, Rob Cooper; and Entertainment Editor, Dave Flanders.

Editor Julie Thesenvitz stated, "One of the main priorities this year was to look at the Oak Leaf project as a whole and work together as a group."

Monarchy Comes to AHS

Thompson Field was the setting for the annual crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen; Jerry Ogden and Colleen Morris. Among the activities they participated in at the circle during lunch time were cracker eating, bubble gum chewing, and pie eating, which later turned to pie throwing thanks to Mike Muzio. A dance was held for the newly crowned royalty and students of AHS. The King and Queen had the dance floor to themselves for the first dance as others looked on. It was held in the newly renovated gym from 8:30 to 11:30 on the evening of November 9, 1979.

Students In Munchie-Land

Ad-Board arranged many noontime activities to entertain the student body this year. "Killer Bands" such as Stardust and the Hornie Band kept everyone rocking to their beats. Volleyball, basketball, badminton, and football games made up the intramural schedule, with many people both participating and cheering others on. Some of the wild teams which played their hearts out were: Mr. Bill's Killers, Riboflavin Ba's, Sweet Thang, Rat and his Pellets, Arny's Army, and the Insidious Cosmic Wimpouts.

Also many AHS students could often be seen checking out the restaurants, delis, and bakeries on Park Street. There, foods to meet any teenager's wildest cravings—pizzas, lasagna, yogurt, ice cream—almost anything could be found.

The Media Center caters to the needs of all types of students and teachers. It is used daily by approximately 1,400 students and is open during the week from 7:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

Students not only use the Media Center for classwork but also as a place to relax and talk with friends, a fill-in for an unscheduled period, or to sit and read a good book or a daily newspaper.

Besides offering a wide variety of books, there are many other areas and types of reference works that are sometimes overlooked. Some of these are the use of microfiche, tape recorders, film strips, and slidesets. In addition there is a Career Center which offers information on jobs, college, military service, and tests for finding out a person's interests and skills. Seminar rooms are also available and used for conference meetings and Special Ed Classes.

Mrs. Winzenread, the librarian, "encourages everyone to use the center because it is for the benefit of everyone."

CloseUp

Months of fundraising and planning preceded the Close-Up participants week in Washington D.C. Despite a 3 hour plane delay, the 33 eager A.H.S. participants made their way to Arlington, Virginia where they they stayed at the Quality Inn Pentagon City .

The students were exposed to a week of workshops, seminars, and sightseeing. Key issues such as the Draft, the Energy Dilemma, the Olympic Boycott, the Iranian Hostage Situation, the 1980 Presidential Elections, and the Abscam Controversy were both highly discussed and debated. Keynote speakers included a senator, a congressman, a news correspondent, a lobbyist, and a Pentagon defense panel with representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines.

Highlighting the weeks events was a theatrical performance of Dracula, a seminar with Senator S.I. Hayakawa, a night tour of Washington D.C., and the traditional breakfast with Congressman Pete Stark. The week's very busy schedule allowed little free time for students. What little time the students did have for themselves was spent at such sites as Capitol Hill, the White House, Embassy Row, the Smithsonian Institute, Georgetown University, and all the renowned memorials.

The Close-Up program presented the 33 participants with a first hand experience in all facets of government. "I highly recommend this program to those students who wish to achieve personal satisfaction in all areas of government. It was quite an experience!" commented junior Mimi Kim.

Due to a conflict in scheduling, veteran advisor Don Perata did not accompany the group as planned. The position however was easily filled by first time A.H.S. social science teacher Gary Haberberger. "I was originally unsure about the educational value of Close-Up, but after the trip I support the program 100%" commented first time advisor Gary Haberberger.

The very exhausting week ended with the traditional banquet and dance. Here the participants said their goodbyes to their program instructors, new friends, and the entire Close-Up experience.

Seniors Invade Sacramento

That might have been what it looked like on the twenty-fourth of January when the near 100 senior students of A.H.S. disembarked the Greyhound buses in Sacramento in front of the California State Capitol after an hour plus drive. Actually it was a government field trip to the State Capitol for the seniors to see how a portion of the government works.

Each student who went had to pay a fee of $7 for the cost of the bus. "It was well worth it since the trip was a success and very beneficial to the students," according to Mr. Terrell and Mr. Haberberger, two A.H.S. government teachers who saw over the students on the trip.

The students met in front of the school and left at 8:00 a.m. and arrived back in Alameda around 4:00 p.m. While they were at the state capitol they listened to senators and watched the senate and assembly in session. There was a break for lunch during the day for the students who brought and bought their own lunches. Some students had lunch for free as they tried to pick oranges off orange trees abundant with fruit on the capitol ground. This is a local taboo! Even the squirrels won't eat them.

Year of the Book

Creativity underlined the theme of Alameda's 1980 Yearbook, making a new and vibrating effect on its quality. "Illusions," as the yearbook's theme, has evolved a variety of "different" techniques to create an illusionary feeling. Such techniques as a bonded gold emblem on the cover, calligraphy, and art work contributed to a unique presentation.

In addition, yearbook photographers, Marvin Pepe, Doug Yamawaki, Anthony Finelli, John Wetzork, Alan Chin, Jim Chaing, and Scott Weisenbach gave our yearbook a special "flavor" since they photographed, developed, and printed the majority of the yearbook's pictures. Credit should also be given to Business Manager Kim Low who devoted much time in processing all the voluminous advertising paperwork.

In essence Yearbook is not "just a fun class" but a truly creative challenge. Stat Girls Keep Track of the Action

What would the ACAL records be without the important work of the AHS Stat Girls? They can be seen keeping track of all the statistics at football and basketball games and at wrestling matches. The football stat girls are led by head Selma Seabock and Assistant Mary Oliveira. All of the girls agree that it takes no more time to keep stats than to attend the games regularly. They also add that everyone keeps track of a separate aspect of the statistics such as rebounds, assists, and turnovers for basketball, or completions, touchdowns, and penalties for football, so they don't have to know everything about the game. The numbers do, however, get confusing at times which is where Mr. Yamasaki, who is in charge of the stat girls, can help.

New Look In Drivers Training

Mr. Paul Foster, district coordinator, has driver training running smoothly for Alameda High students at Encinal High School.

New to the driver training program this year is the use of driving simulators. The main purpose of the simulators is to give students a driving experience while saving gas. One student said, "Simulators were fun at first, but I really like driving better." Many students claimed the simulators were interesting, but could not offer the excitement or teach the dangers of actual driving.

Despite this year's declining enrollment, ROTC kept its reputation high by participating in various community activities. On Veteran's Day and St. Patrick's Day, the ROTC drill unit represented AHS in municipal parades. The year was highlighted by Helicopter Orientation, a weekend at Fort Ord, and the annual competition against EHS. The annual Turkey Shoot drew much attention from the student body, and was their major fundraiser of the year.

"Lack of Enrollment," commented Major Frank Sullivan "is due to ignorance; not knowing what ROTC is all about."

SWEENEY TODD

With evil in mind, Sweeney Todd terrorized the Barbary Coast in Alameda's Little Theater. The Spring Play, directed by Lon Eakes, featured a large cast and marvelous special effects. The cheering and hissing from the audience added to the melodramatic flavor of the play.

Todd Aragon played the villainous Sweeney Todd with relish and in support was an excellent cast consisting of:

Debbie McCall-Lily Fairoak
Keith Davis-Sailor Tom
Kathy Sabo-Mrs. Lovett
Wendy Appleton-Widow Fairoak
Bill Riley-Mr. Scruples

SCC Starts Anew

"New Spirit" and "a lot of ambitions" are the watch-words for the Student Curriculum Council of 1979-1980.

"I always wanted to have more voice in decision-making of our school," said Janet Wong, representative of the Social Science Department, "and now I'm sure I have!"

Chaired by Richard McPherson, representing the Industrial Arts Department, SCC plans to put forth a "tremendous" effort to abolish vandalism, to make better use of the school facilities, and to publish a guide book which will help people select a club suitable for every person's own interest.

"By using the media like the Oak Leaf and the Times Star we could be quite powerful, you know," proudly remarked Gordon Maugh, Industrial Arts representative "we shouldn't just bum around."

New to Alameda High this year is a Family Life program funded through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

All freshmen are required to take this 12 day course through their history classes. The program is being taught by A.H.S. faculty members Marilyn Watson, Connie Swyers, Jo Winzenread and Alan Bell, under the direction of District Coordinator Karen Guthrie. "All the involved teachers feel the program is very successful," Mrs. Guthrie stated.

The program is designed to help students prepare to make sound decisions in the areas of relationships and sexual activity. A question box is used to encourage openness and honesty which are essential to a successful program. Guest speakers from various social agencies and new up-to-date films are another important part of the class.

HORNIE BAND

Hornie Power

If you are male, "horny", and willing to sacrifice all of your dignity, you are eligible to join one of Alameda High's most illustrious groups: The fabulous Hornie Band. The twelve talented musicians that make up this crazy group performed at Raider games, spirit rallies, girl's swim meets, Raider Booster clubs rallies and private parties. All this work left the Hornies with a pleasant dilemma, making more money than they knew what to do with. As Hornie Eric Reany put it, "We are having trouble avoiding a higher tax bracket." Their biggest day was when they earned over two hundred dollars at a Raider game. Lead Hornie, Kevin Turner, wisely directed his group to buy new Hornie jackets, a few Hornie umbrellas, new Hornie music, and "spirits". The band spent many hours practicing for their performances because music is one of their main loves. In fact they could often be found wandering around the school humming their favorite tune "Get it on."

Varsity Hornets Giving It A Good Try

Victories, although not as plentiful as in other years, still highlighted parts of the football season as Alameda finished in the A.C.A.L. 3-4 just in front of Pacific and San Leandro.

"This year's team was smaller than previous years. Most of our players found themselves playing both offensive and defensive positions," remarked Head Coach Greg Fox. Co-Captain Jerry Ogden, an offensive receiver, commented, "I like playing both because I feel I contribute more that way; I can't stand watching." The other Co-Captain, Cory Carroll, played defensive middle-line backer. "The defensive line was really strong and I feel I have improved tremendously."

In the Alameda-Encinal game on November 9, 1979, the spirit was high and the team went into the game with victory on their minds. Encinal came from behind during the third quarter and scored their winning touchdown. The final score was 7-13. After the game Jerry Ogden was quoted as saying "We outplayed them but they beat us on the scoreboard." Tommy Leong illustrated Jerry's point by leading the A.C.A.L. in rushing, gaining over 900 yards for the Hornets.

Spirit Never Bends

We have to concede that the Frosh-Soph Football team wrestled their way to a record of 4 wins and 3 losses this year. But the spirit of young Hornets never bends and never ends under pressure. Most of the Frosh-Soph players are optimistic about the future.

"We will be better off next year," assured freshman Steve Floyd, "we have a good running back and defense."

There is, however, more underlying Alameda's bright future than their skills. "We work as a team. Our losses showed overconfidence and made us work harder." This statement by Dan Jaber characterizes the attitude of the Frosh-Soph team. Steve Floyd not only applauds the team spirit for its success, but also the dedication given by Coach Steve Yamasaki, who "did a great job."

The combination of team spirit and "good" coaching has built a promising Frosh-Soph Football team that possesses "enormous" potential.

A Stinging Championship

Victory was ever present in the minds of Alameda's Junior Varsity football players under the leadership of Coach Greg Fox and Captains Joe Galvan and Robert Jeddeloh.

"We have a pretty good chance at beating Encinal," said Joe. "The loss was good for us. It really fired us up as everybody found 'the spirit'; the loss to Piedmont showed us that we needed to work harder; that we weren't the best."

Winning the league is almost certain and Joe credits this "win" to the team since they "all helped each other." He also commended Bob Jeddeloh and Quarterback Ben Brieger who "really made the team run, having a big influence for the team."

Such team spirit made a difference as to whether we finish with a winning or losing column. Alameda's Junior Varsity shows plenty of spirit, so watch out Encinal—you're getting the sting of the Hornets!!!! And so they did! They showed increased confidence and enthusiasm as they licked Encinal 27 to 6.

Young Spikers Gain Experience

This year's volleyball team was young and inexperienced, but with only one graduating senior, should return next season strong and fully experienced. The team had a competitive season and gave most opponents tough matches.

Leading the varsity squad this year were captains Karen Matsuura and Fran Kahuanui. Valuable players included Maria Salyards, Karen Matsuura, and Fran Kahuanui.

Captain Karen Matsuura explained, "The varsity team should do exceptionally well next season because of the experience gained this year."

First year player Lynda Giblin was J.V. captain and chosen most valuable. Other top players were Nancy Grossman and Paula Park.

Easy Strokes

Challenging practices and self-determination were shown by the 1980 boys tennis team, with the team practicing long hard hours at Krusi Park. These steadily improved the skills needed to bring victory on the courts. Bill Baughman was still the number one player of the team. He was followed by Paul Ip, Elliott Huie, Larry Banda and Jeff Goodman. Coach Dave Fairfield, always a support system for the team said, "We have the quality to win the ACAL if the players live up to it."

Girls Sweep A.C.A.L.

The Alameda High School girls tennis team smashed its way through an undefeated 10-0 season. As defending A.C.A.L. champions, Alameda High was looked upon as the team to beat in 1979.

A big factor in the success of the team was its depth. Contributing to the power were the three experienced doubles teams. Another important factor to the team's winning season was the strong leadership of seniors Kelly Giblin, Chalice Norris, Susie Arnold, and co-captains Mary Yarbrough and Jody Stenberg.

Coach Dave Fairfield said he was pleased with the team for playing up to its championship potential. "I am going to miss all of my graduating seniors, but I am looking forward to the new kids coming in."

At the season's end, during A.C.A.L. championship tournament play, junior Jeannie Pasley captured the league singles title. Chalice Norris and Liz Bordo, took second in doubles action.

Mile after mile was covered each day as the Girls' Cross Country team prepared for a new season. This year's team was well described by Cathie Gilmore who said "Our team was young and inexperienced this season. A lot of us are sophomores and most of us had never been on a Cross-Country team before this year."

One of the problems with such a young team was that none of the girls had cars. This caused a lack of transportation to the hills of Joaquin Miller Park, but assistant coaches Mark Sigmon and Joe Gaidosh made themselves very helpful in this area. However, because of the lack of room, the team often did not run in the hills and sometimes had to be split in half leaving a number of girls in Alameda.

In her first year on the team junior Susie Gray did exceptionally well, placing third in ACAL, outrunning two unsuspecting Piedmont girls. Junior Kalonica McQueston, sophomores Chris Bolmen, Linda Crone and Sue Bordeaux all had good seasons. Sophomore Chris Healy was also a very strong and steadily improving runner.

Playing football, miniature golfing, eating ice-cream, celebrating birthdays and breaking in the new coach, Mr. Terrel, the girls turned hard work into a productive season.

Diola Leads The Way

Obstacles were great for this year's cross country teams. The sport was almost cut at the beginning of the season because all the former coaches had resigned. After some arm twisting Mr. Terrell was convinced to take on the responsibility. He turned out to be perfect for the job, leading the team to a successful 3-2 season. The team defeated runners from Albany, Bishop O'Dowd and Encinal but lost to Piedmont and Castro Valley.

The varsity runners led by Don Diola and well-supported by Jim Hoover placed second in the ACAL. Don was first across the line becoming the sixth consecutive Hornet to win the individual ACAL Championship. He went on to place fifth at North Coast, qualifying for the Meet of Champions. Jim, who was new to Alameda, placed third in the ACAL. The rest of the varsity runners also turned in excellent performances. Sophomores Hank Sigmon, Ralph Baca and Troy Finger all had good seasons along with senior Lewis Low.

Young Runners Build Up Power

Promising young runners made up the junior varsity and soph-frosh cross-country teams this year. Both Hornet teams took a firm second place finish in ACAL championships behind the always strong Piedmont Highlanders. Leading the JV's were Doug Long and Charles Reffitt. Soph-Frosh runner Mike Elliot also placed high in the ACAL meet at Tilden Park.

Although the lack of transportation often forced the non-varsity runners to make do with the hilly terrain of Alameda Beach, the Bay Farm Island Bridge, and Doolittle Drive, the two teams covered a lot of miles and showed tremendous promise for future varsity teams.

A few things made this year different. Baron Wesenberg had an un-nerving encounter with a speeding car on Doolittle. Richard McKennen was lost in the hills. Eric Reeney tripped during the Albany meet causing a slipped disk in his neck and a short hospitalization.

"The team has done an outstanding job this year and I'm very pleased with the men," Sergeant Wallace commented about the team. "They won 60 percent of their matches against Encinal High School, considering there were only six men."

The advantages of being on the team are learning range safety, precision shooting and learning to work as a team. With every effort each man puts into a competition, they know that team work is always the most important factor. In order to be successful and in order to be eligible for the medal or trophy, teamwork is the key word.

Alameda High School Girls Swim Team swam into second place behind Encinal at the A.C.A.L. championships held on November 3, 1979.

"I'm very happy with our team performance as a whole." commented coach Mary Curry. "We had quite a successful season this year considering the amount of graduating seniors that were replaced by twenty-four new upcoming freshmen and sophomores."

Returning veterans such as senior Regina Amaguin, Alison Tees, and Heidi Williams accompanied by Michelle Bernadou and Cheryl O'Brian contributed heavily to this year's 4-3 meet record.

Adding lots of speed and spirit to the team, freshmen Suann Lee, Heidi Rumrill, sophomore Stacy Lyons and junior Jody Collins helped make this season successful.

Freshman Patty Tormey had a "fantastic season," breaking the varsity 500 freestyle record by one second. From the class of 80, Terri Young followed in Patty's wake and set a new record in the 25 yard freestyle. Endurance, speed, and lightning fast times became the trademark for this winning team.

Water Polo Team Shows Strength

Alameda High's Water Polo Team, ended the best season in the history of the school, continued this year with a strong performance. With the help of coach Robert Rodd, the team compiled a record of three wins and two losses, in the tough Richmond-Berkeley league with wins over Clayton Valley, Pinole Valley and Antioch. They established a record of 8 and 6 over the duration of the season.

In the league tournament, Alameda finished in third place with a 2 and 1 record, losing only to San Ramon. Senior Mike Foster, who led the team in steals (29), shots (98), and goals (35), was named to the All-League Team for the second consecutive year. Seniors, like Greg Follrath, who led the team in assists (20); Mike Grace, who had the highest shooting percentage among starters; and goalie Eric Bryant, who set a school record with 134 saves averaging 9.6 blocks a game; all received All-League votes.

Finishing third in the league tournament qualified the team for North Coast, where they lost two grueling games to Las Lomas (10-4) and Berkeley (10-7). Other members of the varsity starting team were, senior Scott Long, juniors Mark Simpson and Ray Velasco, and sophomore Roman Amaguin who helped the team to its fine season.

Swimmers Stroke to Splashing Victories

Entering the Richmond-Berkeley Athletic League for only their second season, the boys' swim team will have a tough time retaining their league championship. Coach Robert Rodd commented on the team by saying, "We will have an extremely difficult time defending our league championship. It may take an upset over Berkeley High for us to retain our title."

Senior Mike Foster, who holds the backstroke record, could have an All-American caliber season. Also, senior Mike Grace, who once held the 500 free record, should have an outstanding year by placing very high at North Coast. Both of these swimmers could rewrite the record book. Other outstanding swimmers who will give the team a big lift include senior Greg Follrath (freestyle), juniors Roman Amaguin (butterfly), Ken Gilmore (butterfly), Mark Simpson (breaststroke), and Ray Velasco (backstroke), and sophomores Mark Canepa (butterfly), and John Perata (breastroke).

Senior diver Connie Wandke, who just missed placing at North Coast last year, is expected to have a tremendous season full of perfect dives. Her important points will be a big help in contributing to the swimmers successful year.

The Alamedan Studs

Wrestling is a sport in which two opponents try to pin (hold) each others' shoulders to a mat on the floor. Successful wrestling demands strength, speed, coordination, balance conditioning, and knowledge of body leverage.

Alameda High's Wrestling team this year has been coached by Dave Heeder and Dave Alexander. Although this year's wrestling team started slowly, the team still finished strong in spirit.

The team members were Danny Esparza who wrestled at 156, Hugh Donatello at 148, Tim Goodman at 103, Randy Kono at 115, Bruce Markey at 130, and Ricky Young at 168.

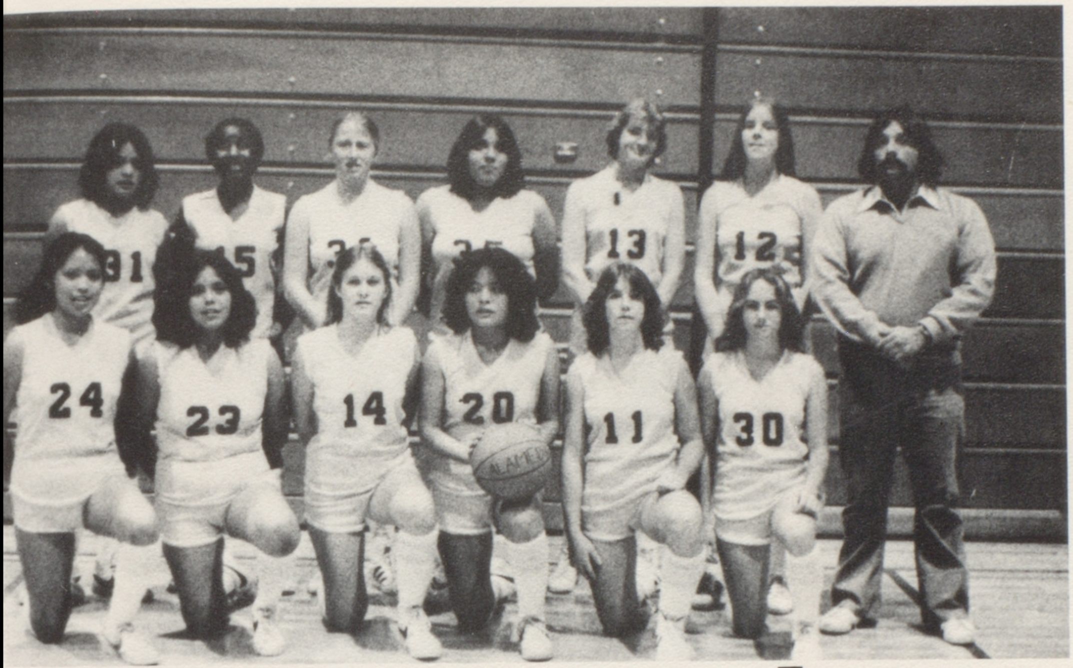
Girl Hoopsters Have Competitive Year



Alameda High's women's basketball team combined last season's rookie experiences with this year's hard work and determination to emerge as a fully competitive force in A.C.A.L. play. The team gave most opponents tough matches with close scores. Returning letter winners Gaverne Shirley, Emma Shirley, Lynda Giblin, and Jody Stenberg provided a spirited foundation for a rapidly improving team.

"I was very impressed with both their skills and willingness to work hard to become competitive basketball players," said coach Robert Rodd.

The natural skills of the young team should improve the team record in league action next season.

Arnie Scores 47 to Break Record

Senior Ken Arnerich, in his third year of Varsity Basketball, broke the 26 year old record of 47 points by a single shot in the Alameda vs. Pacific game. "The team's highlight for the year was making the playoffs. We were off to a slow start," said Arnie, captain of Coach Tim Brophy's team, "But personally, breaking that record was my ultimate goal!"

Irregular practice times, gym scheduling problems, and the learning of new techniques and plays proved to be an obstacle the Hornets tackled excellently. Tim Brophy, a new coach that came to Alameda from Bishop O'Dowd feels, "This team improves with each game we play. Psychologically, we're up for every game and every player hustles and works to the peak of his ability consistently. They've done a fantastic job considering all they've been up against."

With sharpshooter Arnierch the only returning regular starter, the coach was faced with the serious problem of working new plays around Ken. Being young and inexperienced, Alameda used a total of eight different players for the starting lineup. Sophomore Rich Bullock, learning quickly, improved greatly and with his skill and determination, became an essential key to winning and next year he'll lead the way to victory for the Hornets. Darryl Holt and Mike Paulino, both used for their quickness and blocking skills, became important figures on the court. Although he was out early in the season with a sprained ankle, outstanding Junior Ed Pimental's skill and coordination played a major part of this team's success. "It was a good year," stated Senior Guard Mike Paulino, "I'm really proud of our team."

Soph-Frosh

Highlighting the Soph-Frosh Basketball season this year was the sparkling 49-38 victory over the Encinal Jets. Strong defense and pinpoint shooting combined to propel the Hornets to the win, showing Hornet pride and skill.

Although the team suffered many injuries throughout the season and ended up with 8 players instead of the original 15, the team's spirit never failed. Under the guidance of new Head Coach Steve Cressy, the Hornets stuck together and coasted into a 3rd place finish in the ACAL with a record of 3-5. Winning the coveted honor of Most Valuable Player for the team was Freshman Brian Placourakis.

A.H.S. Cagers Score!

Hard work, determination, and skill were only three of the many factors which combined to give the Alameda High J.V. Cagers a record of 7-4 for the 1979-80 basketball schedule.

As the season progressed, the young team steadily improved. Bobby Arnold ended up as the scoring leader of the team with an average of 15 points per game. Teammates Earl Johnson and Captain Eric Voogd also had outstanding seasons, and contributed greatly to the team's success.

The team spirit and support for each other was close knit and a main ingredient in their season of victories.

Safe At Home

Rob Cooper, Ken Arnerich, Kurt Cecconi, Jerry Ogden, Mike Muzio, Jeff Cummings, and Greg Brazel, all returning lettermen, are the seniors who added the depth and hitting power that was needed to put their strong baseball team together. Coached by Leroy Bernadou, better known as "Bernie", the feeling is that they have, "the Hornet intensity it takes to win the A.C.A.L. We should have a good year, and reach our peak right around Easter."

A great team that will feel the loss of this year's graduating seniors next year was at the command of pitchers Tony Blumberg and Mike Muzio. The infield combo and nucleus of the team of Cecconi on third base, Ogden on second base, Arnie as shortstop, with Cooper behind the plate supplied the team with the endurance, strength, speed, and coordination it takes to have strict control over Alameda's opponents and lead the way to victory.

"We're one big "FAM-A-LEE"," was how Arnie put it. "It was great this year, and lots of fun because this is our senior year and all the guys who have played in previous years joined together." "We're all friends, and that makes winning that much better!" said Mike Muzio, "It was a fun year!"

Slidin' Into A Smashing Season

For the fourth consecutive year, Coach Bob Childe led the Hornets into another HOT season.

This year's team, consisting of sophomores, juniors and a handful of frosh had trouble developing into a well coordinated and organized team because of the poor weather conditions that limited practice and field time that dominated much of the earlier season.

Once the sun began to shine so did the team as pitchers Dave MacCarver and Chris Doyel led the way to a hot winning streak. The long hard practice paid off as the team worked out two hours each day in very muddy and brisk weather conditions. "With the team joining together in pride and spirit we should be able to finish high in the A.C.A.L. standing," commented Mike Reno. John Randolph summarized the season by stating "It was a G-R-E-A-T season!!!"

Softball Team Gains Experience

This year's Alameda High Girl's Softball team had a competitive season giving most opponents close games. Led by second year coach Donna Ratzel, the team turned in an all around good performance.

The strong defensive infield was composed of returning letter winners Captain Margret Mullens, Lynda Giblin, Maria Salyards, and Jelin Low. At bat Debbie Grangwer and Lynda Giblin turned in superior performances.

Because the young team was composed of all underclassmen, next year's squad will have many valuable experiences from which to learn.

One returning letterwinner said, "The team will be even stronger next year because everyone will be returning with what they learned this year.

"The team is a young one. A number of truly outstanding freshmen and sophomores rounded out the girls' team contributing greatly to the success of the 1980 season," commented one of the few senior tracksters.

Freshman Kim Pauline turned in excellent times in the sprints and is a hurdler to watch for in the future along with Bonnie Espina. Chris Healy came back in 1980 doing well in the sprints and field events including long jump and high jump. In the two-mile sophomores Chris Bolmen and Linda Crone, stride in stride, stayed out in front throughout the season. Junior Susie Gray and sophomore Judy Boshoven showed their strength in the mile and half-mile while Carol Nohra, also a strong junior, left them in her dust in the 440.

A few freshmen to watch for in the sprints are Ann Ratto and Kathy Koo. Sophomore Joe Worley seems to be picking up where record-holder Linda Read left off in the shot put and discus, and is well-backed by senior Patty Kalar. Head coach Tim Bruder named as the strongest all-around athletes on the girls' team-Cathie Gilmore, Clare Gilmore, Chris Healy and Carol Nohra.

The new coaches pulled an inexperienced group of runners and trained them hard on the College of Alameda track, turned them into a strong and versatile team full of depth.

Coaches Joe Brantley, Jim Fredenburg and Tim Bruder took on the responsibility of organizing and heading the Hornet track team this year. They decided and obtained permission to hold practice on the Alameda College all-weather track. The workouts were long, often ending after five o'clock but the training paid off in the way of a very successful season for the varsity tracksters.

Some of the outstanding runners in the distance events were seniors Don Diola, Jim Hoover and Lewis Low along with underclassmen Mike Miller and Mike Stefani. Hurdler Rich McPhearson, improving his form, turned in excellent times during his last season. Bruce Markey had a good year in pole vault while Jerry Nildhamrong dominated the ACAL in the sprints. Also doing well in their various events were the versatile all-around tracksters Larry Sever, Eddie Galvan and Paul Shea. Powerful weight men Maaka Tammu and Steve Zecher rounded out the team.

Running Strong

B track got off to a running start this year with a victory over Castlemont. Dean Alexander, Eric Reany and Larry Huntington all had outstanding seasons. All three of the Coaches expected to make a good show in ACAL. Steve Zecher had a "terrific" season in the shotput and Greg Koubeck came through strong in the Distance Races. With three new coaches and returning All-ACAL performers Jerry Nildhamrong (sprints, Long and triple jump) and Don Diola (long distance) success seemed eminent. According to Coach Tim Bruder the top three soph-frosh tracksters were George Hashimoto, Eugene Corpuz and Curt Leavitt.

In October they had a Halloween party for the "Special Kids" at Lum School. They worked at the Cerebral Palsy Telethon and made and delivered Santa Grams for the students at AHS. In 1980 the club is looking forward to the Regional Conference of "S" Clubs in schools throughout the districts. They also plan a bake sale and paper drive. President Wendy Paulsen and Vice President Kathy Bride held meetings every week at lunch to discuss plans and future activities.

The Ski Club's constant requests for snow were finally met with great big storms. "It was the greatest snow I've ever seen!" said member Gil Mora. Early in the season the club sponsored a trip to Bear Valley for a long day of skiing in icy conditions. Then after the storms in late February a two-day trip was held at Alpine Meadows and Squaw Valley. One of the last trips was another overnight to Heavenly Valley. "All of them turned out to be real successes," said an enthusiastic club member.

Having A Whale Of A Time

The twenty-five members of the Save the Whales Club, one of the few newly started clubs at AHS this year, attended a "whale watch" off the coast of San Francisco. Here they had a chance to experience an almost once-in-a-life-time-opportunity to see the true beauty of these awesome creatures as they gracefully glide through the icy waters of the vast blue ocean, their natural habitat.

The trip complimented the speakers and various movies they had. It helped to add special strength to each of the individuals and gave a much more meaningful insight into their cause to support the move against the killing of the Great Whales and other endangered species of sea life.

The club and its officers (President Linda Doame, Vice-President Julie Tormey, Secretary Deanna Yaden, Treasurer Elizabeth Urfer) held bake sales and paper drives to raise money for the expenses of the Whale Watch trip and for the money they donated to the groups who are taking some action in government to stop the killing of endangered sea-life.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR GIRLS ONLY! That was the main requirement as Kounteract was re-established for the first time in two years by Fran Kahuanui. According to Fran, "I re-organized Kounteract to bring the different personalities of all interested girls in Alameda High together. The main purpose of the club is to break down some of the many "cliques" around and unite us together in friendship and fun."

Kounteract, consisting of 55 members, each sporting a red and white tee-shirt with the Kounteract emblem, is mainly a service organization that raises money to give to assorted local charities.

Well organized mandatory noontime meetings held every Monday proved to launch many successful fundraisers. A talent show, held in the Little Theater showed a financial success. Singing, dancing, drama, and comedy were all highlighted. A mouth watering bake sale, and a water splashing car wash also turned in fantastic figures.

. . . Links of Service. That was the motto of this year's Keywanette Club. Composed of fifteen members, Keywanettes is a junior branch of the National Organization of Kiwanis. Keywanettes is the largest girls organization in the United States. 1979-80 President of Alameda's branch Suzy Haynes said, "It's a great club to join if you like to help people. Once a week we take a coffee cart to convalescent hospitals and give the patients a treat. It gives you a great feeling inside."

Fundraisers paved the porfitable road to success. A bag lunch auction, with the highest selling for twenty-four dollars, was very profitable. One hundred and fifty dollars was also raised during Halloween by whitewashing windows on Park Street in order for smaller children to paint pictures of Halloween on them. Keywanettes also participated in the Inter-Club "Canned Food Drive."

It's a fun club even with all the work. But then, all clubs are fun," said Dana Wong, club member.

Video Club members were kept busy this past year with club activities and fund raisers. The club filmed many of our assemblies and produced a ten minute film entitled Waiting Room Blues for a statewide contest. The club also tied for first place in our school's canned food drive.

"I'm glad that this year we had more participation from the members," stated club President Randy Ong. Mr. Regello, who has been the club's advisor for the past four years, was very pleased with their success. Treasurer Yim Lam commented on the club by saying, "This year we had more equipment to use, so we could get more done." Junior Bill Baughman and Senior Frank Sullivan also contributed much time in their efforts on behalf of the club.

Korean Comaraderie

Helping new Korean students in adjusting into the flow of American life is the purpose of this year's Alameda High Korean Club. The members were involved in the International Dinner, bringing favorite Korean dishes. They have been involved in such group sports as soccer and softball, and they have learned the meaning of democracy; according to President Kyeong Lee's comment, "They want to impeach me—like Nixon."

Oriental Delight

As President Michelle Leong commented, "The hard work and dedication of the members really made the club a success this year."

Commendation should be given to the Asian Club members for their contribution of $25 to the Cambodian Emergency Relief Fund. "In contributing to the Cambodian Relief Fund," said Mr. Dare, one of the advisors, "the Asian Club seeks to take another small step in coming to the aid of fellow human beings, in remembering our individual respective background, and in reflecting of our being a part of the mosaic that is America."

Spring election provides a mid-year break for new officers with new ideas. This spring's officers are Rachael St. Germain, President; Lori Cheung, Vice-President; Lelin Low, Recording Secretary; Cindy Lee, Corresponding Secretary; and Maxine Leong, Treasurer.

Enthusiasm underscored the active membership of Alameda High's Asian Club. A paper drive, bake sale, pot lucks, caroling, and ice skating were all fun and profitable activities. The members needed money for their annual "Big Event", which will be a snow trip this year. Other activities included a fortune cookie sale and the annual chow mein dinner, which always serves a favorite oriental dish.

2: The Art Club Officers: President Diane Wehr, Vice President Christa Keller, Secretary Scott Warren, Treasurer Erika Appleton

"Some purposes of the club are to have more time working with art, learning about art, and loosening our talents," said Christa Keller, Vice-president of the Art Club. President Diane Wehr has worked hard to organize trips and visits to galleries, museums, and location drawings. Trips to Maxwell Gallery for old masters and Gilbert's Gallery for modern masters were worked on by Secretary Scott Warren and Treasurer Erica Appleton. Mrs. Facchin and Mrs. Pozo, the advisors accompanied us to the Oakland Museum and the San Francisco Museum of modern art. Location drawings like the trip to Alameda Municipal Golf Course to create a forest-like atmosphere were participated in by most members of the club.

The trip to Davis highlighted the C.S.F. year

Blustery winds and bone-chilling temperatures greeted the many members of CSF who went on a field trip to Davis last December. They were treated to a tour of the school and a presentation of the UC campuses' admission policies. Many members also sat in on some college classes, so they could sense what college work is really like. Said Treasurer Kyeong Lee, "It was a good learning experience."

Sales to raise money for the Davis trip and end-of-the-year scholarships were termed "successful" by President Janet Wong. Money, which came from serving refreshments at the play David and Lisa and at the bake sale held outside Alpha Beta, raised the treasury balance greatly.

The members were also able to learn the "real truth" about UC Berkeley from speakers Mark Sigmon and Dave Samelson. The two young men, recent graduates from AHS, are now attending Cal.; they related their exciting experiences to the club. Mr. Bartley was also able to spend a lunch hour with CSF to advise the members on colleges and scholarships.

This year's Interact Club was led by the four elders; Jerry Ogden, Tom Leong, Rob Cooper, and Mike Machado. The club had several activities including a memorable ski trip to Bear Valley. Interact members were also involved in many community projects. Mr. Eugene Evans led this year's group of high-spirited, young men through a year of fun and service climaxing with an Angel Island boat cruise.

The officers were President Jerry Ogden, Vice-President Tom Leong, Secretary Kurt Cecconi, Treasurer Mike Muzio, Sergeant-at-Arms Cory Carroll, Activities Director Rob Cooper, and Chaplain Mike Machado. Interact, sponsored by Rotary International, was revived this year and should be livelier in years to come.

Everyday of the week chess club meets in the media center at lunch to plan for games and tournaments. Tournaments were often held to determine the best player in the club. "Our club is made up of people who like to play chess," said sponsor Mr. Berges. During the year the club did not hold any major functions or fund raisers. "We just like to play chess," said president Steven Ng.

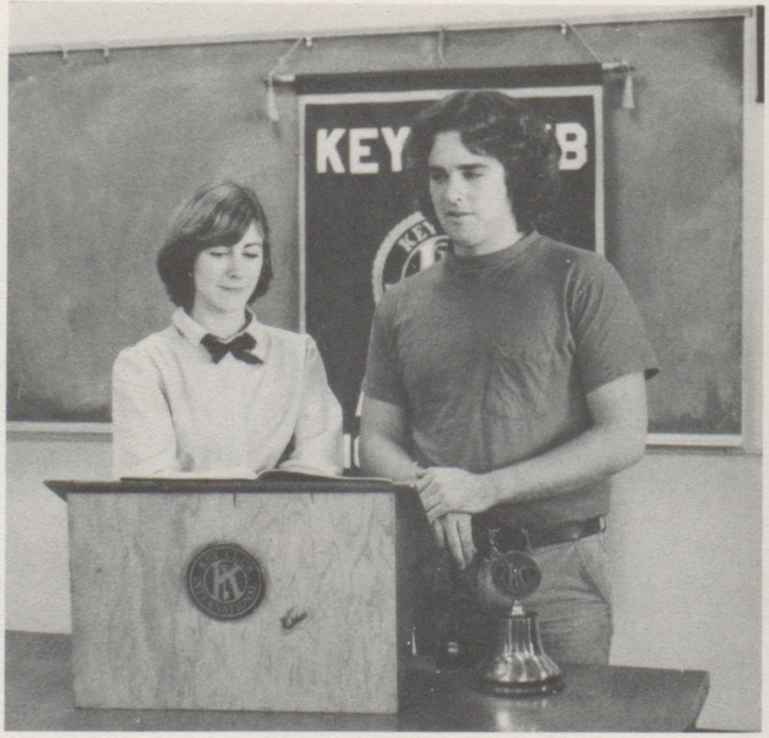
Can the Old Key Club Keep the Lock Open?

This is the question many people have asked about the AHS Key Club, a service club, which is one of many branching out across the U.S. and sponsored by Kiwanis Clubs International. The club had a very hard time this year trying to keep up planned activities and getting new members. They did, however, manage to keep an old traditional activity. With the help from the Kiwanis they held a Halloween carnival for the Children of Whitton School, an Oakland elementary school for the handicapped.

The remaining two members of the AHS Key Club commented on their feelings on the decline of the Club. Mickey Morgan, Vice President and a relatively new member from last year said, "The lack of membership is probably due to the competition between so many clubs and the introduction of so many "Special Interest" clubs that make service clubs seem much less appealing." Mary Ann Lopes, President and an old "die-hard" of the AHS Key Club, said, "Key Club, is the only student activity I was interested in. It is a disappointment to see a club fall apart due to lack of interest of the students."

The AHS Key Club has been in service since 1963. It was originally an all boys club but the influence of womans-lib eased its way in and in 1976 the first girl joined.

Jim Cooper, advisor for the club since almost the beginning, has true devotion and commitment to Key Club; he is going to try to keep it going by reorganizing it and is very determined to make it work.



Viva Italiano

Fantastic voices were coming from the Italian Club members this year. Advisor Ms. Sartori and Mary McElhinney serenaded lucky diners at the International Dinner in the Alameda High Cafeteria. Other Italian Club singers stole the hearts from the local members of the Alameda Girls Club.

President Jerry Ogden and Vice President Paul Bongiovanni, Carol Nohra, Francesca Ratto, and Robert Platt led members into combat against other schools in a foreign language festival at Holy Names College.

When not locked in linguistic battle Treasurer Jeff Goodman and Secretary Carol Nohra helped Jerry and Paul to organize an outing to an Italian restaurant as well as a rousing Christmas party which kept Sergeant at Arms Mike Bongiovanni busy trying to keep peace.

Building up the treasury was a prime objective of the Fall and Spring Senior Class Officers. Under the guidance of advisor Herbert Apel, Fall President Linda Chew and her cohorts (Vice-President Gail O'Connell, Secretary Vicki Young, Treasurer Janet Wong, and Commissioner of Spirit Todd Aragon) were able to organize many fundraisers such as car washes, bake sales and candy sales. The officers also organized the successful Trick-or-Treat-a-gram sale.

With the theme of "Seniors Go Western," the class was able to come in as a strong second during Spirit Week. The Senior Banquet, held at the Oakland Hilton in January, was a big success with about 140 members of the class dancing to the music of DJ Rick Casanova.

Strong leadership was shown by the Spring officers as they prepared for the end-of-the-year senior activities. President Linda Chew, Vice-President Paul Bongiovanni, Treasurer Regina Amaguin, Secretary Vicky Young, and Commissioner of Spirit Gail O'Connell all worked hard to organize the events that contributed towards great memories for the Class of '80.

An Evening To Remember

On a cold January evening, 142 of this year's graduating class "danced the night away" to the hot sounds of DJ Rick Casanova. The event was the traditional Senior Banquet and the place was the Oakland Hilton's International Ball Room.

Adding to the festive atmosphere was the presentation of a desk pen set by class president Linda Chew to class advisor Mr. Apel. The gift was in recognition for all of the fine help he has given to the "fantabulous" Class of '80.

Most of the attending seniors enjoyed a memorable evening although many were not impressed with the dinner served. But, all in all, everyone had fun. Said Senior Kent Takano, "I had a pretty good time. It was better than I expected."

This year's juniors, the Class of '81, showed their rhythm and talent with their spirit week theme "Juniors Go Rock and Roll". They also demonstrated financial success with various fundraisers such as a profitable $250 Pizza Night at Lord Byron's and a car wash that yielded $200.

Early in the year committees were formed and were hard at work on the Junior Prom. The Prom was held in the Brazilian Room in Tilden Park on March 14 and proved to be a fine location for a beautiful evening of "Sharing The Night Together".

1: Tina Yerko breezes through her junior year with ease.
2: Ann Alberts looks forward to a successful senior year.
3: Lisa Cecconi and Connie Kerr smile for the Acorn photographer.
4: Debbie Gangwer experiences an educational high!

Sophomore Syndicate Blows Its Cover

1: Treasurer Jill Aragon, Secretary Diane Morris, President Jeannine Lynch, Commissioner of Spirit Susie O'Connell, and Vice President Trisha Andrews

This year's sophomore class was led through many successes by presidents Jeannine Lynch and Mark Canepa. Highpoints were the car wash, button sale and Pizza Night at Lord Byron's. Pizza Night garnered $195 for the fund.

Many students masqueraded in the moonlight of the soph-hop presented by the class of '82. Co-chairmen for the soph-hop were Jeannine Lynch and Trisha Andrews.

The Syndicate showed their pride during spirit week by mobbing the halls with decorations and style.

Freshman Are Out of This World

"I wanted the freshman class to start out strong enough so that we are sure to have enough money for our senior year," explained Kim Pauline as her reason for running for class president. "We are all good friends and I had to talk people into running for offices." With these remarks the second semester was off to a start.

The accumulation of finances started with a paper drive which netted $160 and a winning spirit week which yielded $100 more for Freshman effort. There will be more money coming from the usual candy sale and a warm weather car wash.

Getting to the top includes the "Top of the Mark." The frosh class really wants to have their senior ball at the Mark Hopkins. In order to reach their goals the officers are meeting monthly and trying to get the class to show up at monthly meetings in addition.

What's it like to be new to Alameda High this year? "It's a lot more fun." "Teachers do not put as much pressure on you as in lower grades." "After a few weeks it's not much different from grade school."

Faculty

Learning is finding out what you already know. Doing is demonstrating that you know it.
Teaching is reminding others that they know just as well as you. You are all learners, doers, teachers.

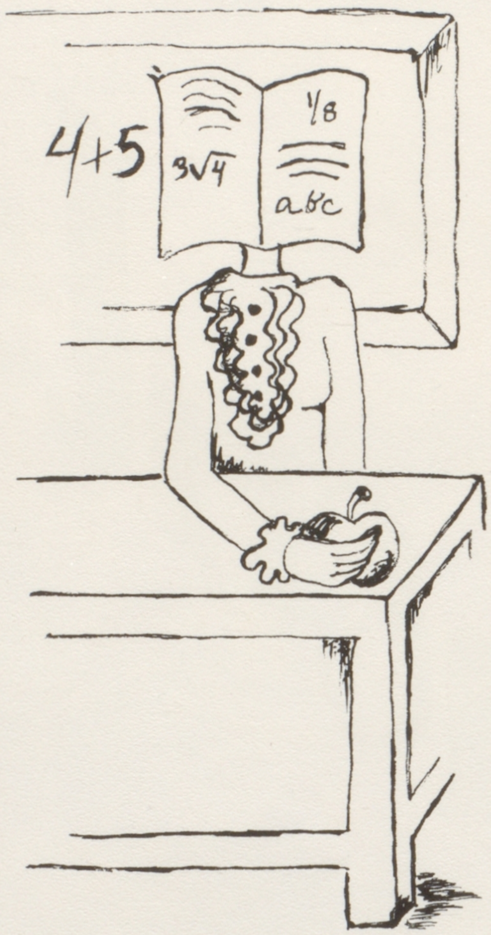
Faculty Analysis

Alameda High's faculty studied at various universities throughout the Western world, yet they ended up at Alameda High. Degrees from University of California, Berkeley, Stanford, St. Mary's, Holy Names, Denver, Indiana, Florida, William & Mary, Cornell, and the fabulous Island of Hawaii, not to mention sensuous Sorbonne in Paris, France, and Breadloaf School of English in Vermont add an air of diversity to our staff.

Teachers do not spend that much time correcting papers and homework, even though they claim to. Such hobbies as reading, hiking, sewing, photography, gardening, and tennis fill their extra-curricular activity time. Some of the unique hobbies are shouting, psychology, singing "off-key", gambling, and fighting for parking spaces.

One of the most popular extra-curricular activities is "children". -for some of the teachers. There are more sons than daughters and one busy teacher claims to have eight kids. Probably due to the overexposure to the younger set, twenty-three members of the faculty denied having kids.

When asked to describe their hidden talents, teachers responded: "who knows?"; "all my talents are out in the open"; "has not yet appeared"; "None!!"; "to be a politician, that is, a spy"; "it's so latent even I don't know about it"; and the best of all a "Great lover!"



Debuting in the 1980 Acorn is the first Faculty Analysis, and we, the Acorn Staff, believe it is meaningful, for it reveals the fact that teachers are neither divine nor evil beings; they are just human beings who can eat, laugh, and think.

Food provides the energy necessary for teachers to maintain their extra-curricular activities. "Anything chocolate" seems to be a popular food, as well as peanut butter. Another favorite is ice cream. Boston cream pie, steak, shrimp, crab, Mexican food, Oriental cuisines, and "good beer" seem to be the general diet of our teachers. Generalizing the various foods isn't too hard, as one teacher commented, "Anything fattening!"

Teachers are looking forward to better prospects in the '80's than the one's they had in the '70's. Their ambitions run the gamit, from something as serious as "to be a principal" to something as personal as "to lose weight".

One of the most illusionary dreams is "getting all my students to enjoy reading"; a most realistic reply is "to survive!"

It is amazing to see how our faculty members are enthusiastic about traveling; almost every teacher has been outside of the United States. Mexico and Canada seem to be the most popular countries to visit, and the Orient is the place where most of them would like to travel to. One energetic teacher journeyed almost throughout the world: all countries in Western Europe, Greece and the Greek Islands, up the Agean Sea to the Black Sea, Odessa, North Coast of Africa, Mexico, Canal Zone, Colombia, Latin America, Japan, the Inland Sea, Taipei, and Hong Kong.

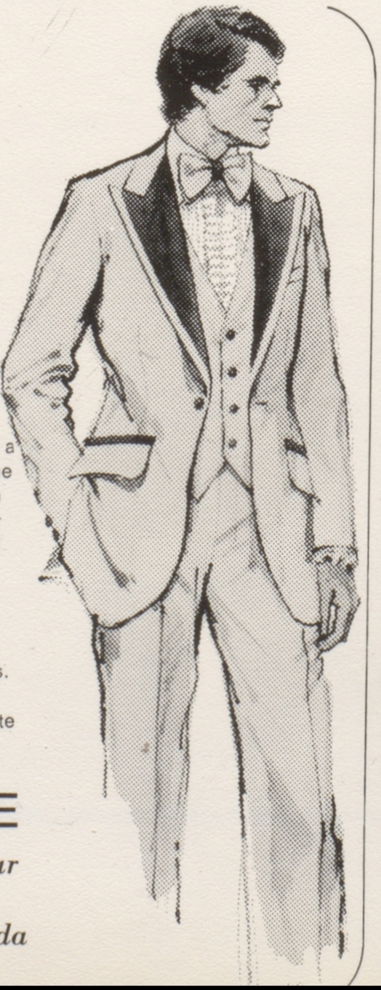
Palm Beach® Formals

GOOD TIMES FOR RENT



Why not be among the few who make things happen? Be a trend setter when you wear the luxurious Savile Row by Palm Beach* Formals. It's a winner — from the top of its rounded satin peak lapel down to handsomely flared trousers. Note the new rope shoulders, deep side vents, suppressed waist and slanted flap pockets. Wear it with a lively vest and accessories—all at a moderate rental charge.
